Fashionable Television Characters

The following female television characters demonstrate a diverse but equally fashionable style. Check out the following templates made at POLYVORE for some style ideas and check out the characters in action on television this fall or next spring for AMC's "Mad Men" and HBO's hit "Girls".

Jessa's style reflects her free-spirited character. Flowy bohemian items fill the character's wardrobe and create a high-fashion hippie vibe.

In Season 7 and 8 of HIMYM, Robin Scherbatsky's style has blossomed as she has "somewhat" matured as a character. The broadcast reporter can be seen with a more professional polished look this season with items such as collared blouses and pant trousers.

Classic 1960's suburban style define Betty Draper. These classy items recreate the beauty's style, but don't worry look-a-like items can be easily bought for less.

Quirky Jess pulls off her look with adorable bow hair accessories and other vintage-esque items. High-waisted items and belts complete her style.
